Living for the Future

Ensuring that our product range always is a reflection of modern life, BoConcept® works with consultants around the world to spot new, emerging trends that will influence our way of living. Read trend forecaster Anne Lise Kjaer's predictions for home life 2006.

Interior:

After a long period of minimalism, we are welcoming warmth and personality back in our homes. We want to stand out from the crowd and tell our own personal story. It's all about challenging your intuition, imagination and the spirit of the moment. Pieces of furniture are mixed, and accessories and collectibles play a central role in creating that personal touch. Textiles enjoy a big comeback; rugs, curtains, upholstery and quilts—everything that creates a warm, welcoming atmosphere.

Colors:

Lots of whites from optical and broken white to eggshell—mixed with warm neutrals, browns and beige. More vibrant and energetic colors, like those we saw in the sixties, are introduced for patterned textiles, accessories and glassware.

Textiles:

Natural materials—anything from velvet and heavy wool to linen and cotton.

Furniture:

Inviting, soft forms—especially upholstered furniture with loads of resting space.

Most Essential Room:

The 'Timeshare' room, that combines the living room and the kitchen as one unified space with flexible pieces of furniture to cater to a busy lifestyle. A space for everything—working, cooking, entertaining or just living!

Hottest Objects:

Multi-functional wall systems and storage options that allow flexibility in the open living space.

Best Decorating Tip:

Intuition—no rules

My Home:

Soulful, lots of good vibes and clutter-free
