We miss our mates, but does a New Renaissance mean they can come home?

If the first thing you think of when you hear the term renaissance is leaving cert history then get ready, because you’re in for a big shock!

A new report claims that we’re heading for a second renaissance and that this time, it’ll happen here in Ireland. Well actually it’s happening all across Europe but Irish cities have been named as the place to be for those looking to create, connect and innovate.

Want more details?

Well, the in-depth analysis* scored cities based on key indicators, such as the number of creative and knowledge-based jobs; the levels of engagement with digital creativity and cultural activities, as well as the diversity of integration with new technologies. It also considered how well cities were prepared for the future, analysing the number of graduates in key creative and technology-based fields and looking at applications for patents in ICT.

What does it mean for me?

That if you’re interested in a creative job you’re in the right place!

Why should I live in Dublin?

Dublin (http://www.huaweicreatives.ie/dublin) topped the charts as the city for Creating; as it has the highest figures of newly created jobs in the creative sector and the highest proportion employed in areas of arts, culture and entertainment.
REHOME A DOG AND CHANGE A LIFE FOREVER

DogsTrust

Reg Charity Nos: 227523 & SC037843
Why should I live in Galway?

Galway ranks as the most Innovating city due to its top-ranking supply of graduates in the arts and humanities and in ICT. Galway is also set to be the European Capital of Culture in 2020, which should see a significant boost in cultural investment and activity.
Why should I live in Cork?

Cork came out top as the city for Connecting due to its regarded educational institutions dedicated to music, technology, art and design and a huge student population. These include the University College Cork, Cork School of Music, the Crawford College of Art and Design and the Lewis Gluckman Gallery for contemporary art.

* The New Renaissance Hotspots Report, commissioned by Huawei and authored independently by the Institute of Arts and Ideas and Kjaer Global, explores how hundreds of years after the original Renaissance, we are witnessing a similar cultural frisson of big ideas, driving innovation and change. Analysis of both quantitative data and qualitative research saw cities within ten European countries scored against three key drivers: Creativity, Connectivity and Innovation to establish the cities at the epicentre of today’s explosion in ideas and creativity.
Our Recommendations

- Remember That Colour-Coded Spreadsheet Of Dublin Restaurants?
  Well, It's Gotten A 2019 Update!
  umagazine.ie

- A Hair Straightener That Can Be Switched Off Using Your Phone Exists And We Need Twenty
  umagazine.ie

- Kim Kardashian Admits She’s Been Stealing Her Style From Naomi Campbell
  umagazine.ie

- The Women Fighting Fascism In Eastern Europe
  irishtatler.com

- WIN an Overnight Stay for Two at Glenlo Abbey Hotel!

- Is this 4-year-old Irish dancer the world’s next Michael Flatley?